Everything Changed in 2019! Here's What You Need to Know.

Tuesday, August 20th
10am - 11am
Flyers/Sixers Surgery Theatre

Between the implementation of the revised Common Rule, the new continuing review process, and updated CITI requirements, the expectations surrounding submitting to the IRB have changed significantly so far this year, and with all the other requirements of conducting & managing research, it can be hard to keep track of them all and exactly what you need to do these days to get a study approved.

Look no further than this class! In the first half of this session, members of the IRB staff will recap briefly in one easy place everything that has changed for each submission type and what your submissions will need moving forward. The second half will serve as an open forum for any questions you have or that may have arisen on your protocols, and staff will advise you on best practices & solutions in real-time.

Workshop & Feedback on Consent Summaries

Wednesday, July 17th
1:30pm - 2:30pm
8030 Maloney

Drafting the new required consent summaries can be challenging. Especially since many are drafted on site, you may wonder: what information exactly should be covered, and how?

Come to this consent summary workshop to answer all your questions! Come prepared with a summary for a study and get real-time feedback from peers and IRB staff, as well as see other departments’ styles of summaries to come up with new ideas of what works best for you. You will walk away with this session with not only a stronger consent summary to include in your submission, but also a deeper understanding & mastery of drafting these summaries for future studies.
